Conference in Tallinn, Estonia. Deadline: January 24, 2020

Diagrams is the only conference series that provides a united forum for all areas that are concerned with the study of diagrams and has a multidisciplinary emphasis.

Diagrams 2020 is the eleventh conference in the biennial series that started in 2000. The multidisciplinary nature of Diagrams means it encompasses: architecture, art, artificial intelligence, biology, cartography, cognitive science, computer science, education, graphic design, history of science, human-computer interaction, linguistics, logic, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, and software modelling. The conference attracts a large number of researchers from these interrelated fields, positioning Diagrams as the major international event in the area.

Diagrams 2020 will be hosted by Tallinn University of Technology in Estonia. Tallinn is the capital of Estonia and a beautiful seaside city. It has a well preserved medieval old town which is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The city is ideally located and designated for those who wish to explore Estonia's vibrant cultural life, digital society and natural sites. Tallinn is easily accessible by flight from international cities, either directly or by transiting through Helsinki (Finland) and Riga (Latvia).
